

A Brighter Future for FE

UNISON firmly believes that further education in England needs funded, binding national pay bargaining—where unions negotiate with one employer body and pay is funded by the government, resulting in a pay offer that colleges are obliged to implement.

The government needs to:

- Provide better pay in FE through binding national bargaining
- Fund FE for the future so that institutions can meet growing demand and provide consistent opportunities
- Ensure every learner can succeed through stronger investment and support for learners
